

25. Stefano G.B., Salzet M., Bilfinger T.V. Long-term exposure of human blood vessels to HIV gp120, morphine, and anandamide increases endothelial adhesion of monocytes: uncoupling of nitric oxide release. // J. Cardiovasc. Pharmacol. — 1998. — Vol. 31. — P. 862-868.

26. Stefano G.B., Salzet M., Magazine H.I., Bilfinger T.V. Antagonism of LPS and IFN- γ induction of iNOS in human saphenous vein endothelium by morphine and anandamide by nitric oxide inhibition of adenylate cyclase. // J. Cardiovasc. Pharmacol. — 1998. — Vol. 31. — P. 813-820.

27. Szeto H.H., Zhu Y.S., Cai L.Q. Central opioid modulation of Fetal cardiovascular function: role of mu- and delta-receptor // Am. J. Physiol. — 1990. — Vol. 258. — P. 1453-1458.

28. Takata Y., Hirayama Y., Kiyomi S. The beneficial effects of atrial natriuretic peptide on arrhythmias and myocardial high-energy phosphates after reperfusion // Cardiovasc. Res. — 1996. — Vol. 2. — P. 286-293.

29. Vanhoutte P.M. Endothelial dysfunction and atherosclerosis // Eur. Heart. J. — 1997. — Vol. 18 (suppl E). — P. 19-29.

30. Vollmar A.M., Arendt R.M., Schultz R. The effect of opioids on plasma atrial natriuretic peptide // Eur. J. Pharmacol. — 1987. — Vol. 143. — P. 315-321.